

WALT WHITMAN

MADLIBS

New York Public Library

Follow copy, italics and all, line for line

Rec'd A Child's Reminiscence.

Pre-verse.

Out of the _____ cradle, _____

Out of the mocking-bird's _____, the musical _____

Out of the boy's _____ womb, and from the nipples of _____

Out of the Ninth _____ midnight,

Over the sterile _____, and the fields _____ beyond, where the _____, leaving his _____ wandered alone, bare _____ bare-foot, _____

Down from the showered _____ and the moonbeams _____ up from the mystic _____ of _____ _____ and twisting as if they were _____

Out from the _____ of _____ and

From the memories of the _____ that _____ to me

From your _____, said brother - from the fitful _____ and _____ I heard,

WALT WHITMAN

MADLIBS

3

From that night, _____, under the yellow _____ moon, _____ rising, and _____ as if with _____,
From _____ notes of _____ and love, there in the _____,
From the thousand _____ ~~in song~~
_____, never to _____,
From the myriad _____ words,
From the _____ stronger and _____ delicious than any,
From such, as now they _____, the _____ revisiting,
As a flock, _____ ing, rising, or over:
head _____ ing,
Borne _____ - ere all _____ me,
hurriedly,
~~A~~ _____ - yet by these _____ a little _____ again,
Throwing _____ on the sand, I, Confronting the _____, sing -